

Wet Baby Blues

(words & music by C. Denise Young)

- 1) One day, you'll tie your own shoes, One day you won't throw your food
One day, some day, maybe a fun day, Gone are the wet baby blues!

"Mommy, put my jacket on, let's go out and play."

Dear, you have the chicken pox, what will the doctor say?

"In my room, let's read a book, then watch some cartoons."

Honey, Mommy needs to cook, Dad will be home soon.

- 2) One day, you won't write on walls, One day, you won't trip and fall,
One day, some day, maybe a fun day, Gone are the cry baby blues.

"Mommy, get your tennis shoes, let's go to the park."

Company is on the way, your room smells like the ark!

"Little league's in half an hour, I can't find my glove."

What about your homework, dear, and taking out the dog?

- 3) One day, you won't lose my keys, One day, you'll learn to say please!
One day, some day, maybe a fun day, Gone are the bad baby blues!

Bridge)

Children grow up, time's forever gone,
Those precious moments cannot be lived again.

In life's fast pace, give your time today.

Give them hugs, give them love,

One day they'll say . . .

4) "Mom, I've got rehearsal, I won't be home for dinner."

Dear, it is your birthday, family's coming over!

"I've a date tomorrow night, I will need the car."

You're never home, we need to talk, this has gone too far!!!

One day, you'll walk down the aisle, one day, you'll have your own child

One day, some day, I MISS YA HON' DAY!

I miss those wet, cry, bad ba-a-a-by blues!
